Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Result of operations

For the six-month period ending June 30, 2017 (the "Period"), Empire Life Emblem Aggressive Growth Portfolio (the "Fund"), Series A, returned 1.43%. The net returns of other series of this Fund are provided under the section titled "Past Performance". The series have different returns due to the expenses charged to each series. The Fund's broad-based benchmark, the S&P/TSX Composite Index, broadly representative of the Canadian market, returned 0.74% for the same Period. The Fund's mandate is to invest in a broadly diversified portfolio of equity securities, diversified by geographic region and market capitalization. Fund returns are reported net of all management fees and expenses for all series, unlike the returns of the Fund's benchmark, which are based on the performance of an index that does not pay fees or incur expenses.

The Fund's blended benchmark returned 1.88% for the Period. From January 1 to March 31, 2017, the blended benchmark was composed of 30% S&P/TSX Composite Index, 30% S&P/TSX 60 Index, 15% S&P/TSX Small Cap Index, 12.5% S&P 500 Index, and 12.5% MSCI EAFE Index. From April 1 to June 30, 2017, the blended benchmark was composed of 60% S&P/TSX Composite Index, 15% S&P/TSX Small Cap Index, 12.5% S&P 500 Index and 12.5% MSCE EAFE Index. The reallocation from the S&P/TSX 60 Index to the S&P/TSX Composite Index was to better reflect the higher degree of diversification inherent in the Fund's Canadian equity investments. In the portfolio manager's view, the comparison to the blended benchmark more closely reflects the market sectors in which the Fund invests, to provide a more useful comparative to the performance of the Fund.

The Fund outperformed its broad-based benchmark over the Period, largely as a result of its allocation to U.S. equities, which generally outperformed Canadian equities.

The Fund underperformed its blended benchmark over the Period because of the Fund's overweight allocation to Canadian equities, which generally underperformed the blended benchmark. An underweight allocation to international equities – as well as the Fund's cash position and stock selection in the Canadian Energy sector – also detracted from the Fund's performance.

An underweight allocation to Canadian small-capitalization equities contributed to the Fund's performance. Stock selection in U.S. and international equities also contributed to performance, as did an overweight allocation to U.S. equities.

Global equity markets posted gains over the Period, and were supported by stronger corporate earnings growth and optimism regarding potential regulatory and tax reforms in the U.S.

European equities posted some of the strongest regional gains. A centrist and pro-European Union politician, Emmanuel Macron, was elected President in France, and the outcome of the U.K. snap election weakened the government's mandate to negotiate its exit from the European Union – perhaps leading to a softer "Brexit". These signs of ebbing European populism were generally well received by financial markets.

Canadian equities struggled in response to the weakness of the Energy sector, as oil fell from approximately US$54 per barrel to US$46 over the Period. The lower price of oil stemmed from an increase in global supply, particularly out of the U.S., and came despite an extended agreement among members of the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries ("OPEC") to cut production.

For Canadian investors, the sharp rise in the Canadian dollar since May erased a meaningful portion of the Period's global equity gains, after Bank of Canada ("BoC") Governor Poloz commented that the BoC may increase interest rates sooner than the market had expected. The Canadian dollar rose 3.46% against the U.S. dollar over the Period (rising 5.27% in May and June alone).

The portfolio manager increased the Fund's target allocation to Canadian equities during the Period based on what the portfolio manager believes is the relative attractiveness of that asset class. Canadian equity performance underperformed other equity regions over the Period. That said, the portfolio manager continues to find value opportunities in the Canadian Energy sector and believes oil prices should eventually recover and stabilize at higher levels in response to the costs of production (and assuming oil demand remains relatively steady).

The portfolio manager also increased the Fund's target allocation to international equities (reducing its underweight position) in response to the portfolio manager's improving outlook for the asset class and stronger earnings growth for European companies. The portfolio manager's target allocation to U.S. equities was decreased (reducing its overweight position) as a result of what the portfolio manager believes are less attractive valuations resulting from high market expectations following the late-2016 U.S. presidential election.

Recent developments

The portfolio manager is cautiously optimistic for the medium-term prospects of the Fund. At the end of the Period, equities have been supported by moderate-to-strong economic growth and low-to-moderate inflation, which the portfolio manager sees as a positive combination for equity markets. However, a point of caution relates to pockets of high valuations, particularly in U.S. equities. In this environment, the portfolio manager continues to focus on higher-quality companies trading at what the portfolio manager believes are attractive valuations.

Future Accounting Changes

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments

In July 2014 the IASB published the complete version of IFRS 9, which is effective for annual periods beginning on or after January 1, 2018, with retrospective application. The new standard includes requirements on the classification and measurement of financial assets and liabilities, an expected credit loss model that replaces the existing incurred loss impairment model and new hedge accounting guidance. The Manager is in the process of assessing the impact of IFRS 9. Based on the latest available information, the Manager does not expect any major changes to the Funds' Financial Statements other than a few additional disclosures, if necessary.

- (1) This information is derived from the Fund's interim and annual audited financial statements. The financial statements are prepared using International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS).
- (2) Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period.
- (3) Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- (4) This is not a reconciliation of the beginning and ending net assets per unit.
- (5) The management expense ratio (MER) is based on total expenses (excluding withholding tax and other transaction costs) as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the Period.
- (6) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the Period.
- (7) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. Portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of the cumulative cost of purchases or cumulative proceeds of sales divided by the average market value of the portfolio, excluding short-term investments.

Management fees

The management fee for Series A, T6, T8 and F units is an annualized rate calculated as a percentage of net assets of the applicable series of the Fund and accrued daily and paid monthly to Empire Life Investments Inc. The Fund's management fees were used by Empire Life Investments Inc. to pay for the costs of the overall business and affairs of the Fund including activities related to making units of the Fund available to investors, and providing or arranging for the provision of investment advisory services and marketing services to the Fund.
